

General Terms and Conditions of Sale – Jura-Guss GmbH

(Date: 2022)

§ 1 Definitions

'Customer' shall be the company that accepts an offer from Jura-Guss GmbH or, alternatively, the company that submits an offer to conclude a delivery contract, which offer is accepted by Jura-Guss GmbH.

'Product' shall be the item that constitutes the object of a contract concluded between customer and Jura-Guss GmbH.

§ 2 Scope

(1) The following terms and conditions of sale shall apply only where companies, legal entities under public law, or special funds under public law are involved.

(2) The following terms and conditions of sale shall apply exclusively. Jura-Guss GmbH will not accept any conditions which customer may make, that run counter to or deviate from these present conditions, unless these are conditions of purchase that conform to the recommendations of the Association of the German Automobile Industry e.V. (VDA) regarding general terms and conditions for the purchase of production material and spare parts destined for use in automobiles in the version of 15-09-2015, or that have been expressly accepted as valid in writing by Jura-Guss GmbH. The following conditions shall continue valid if Jura-Guss GmbH should fill an order without reservation even though fully aware of customer's conditions that run counter to or deviate from his own.

(3) To the extent that customer's conditions conform to the aforementioned VDA conditions they shall take precedence over the latter whenever they deviate from these conditions.

(4) Where business relations are continuous the aforementioned conditions shall similarly apply to any subsequent contracts.

§ 3 Examination of the requirements applying to products and services

(1) Whenever customer informs Jura-Guss GmbH of the use to which he intends to put the products or services ordered by him, the quotation from Jura-Guss GmbH will be based on the assumption that the issues addressed in subsequent questions are not relevant for the product demanded by customer, provided that customer has not previously communicated relevant information to Jura-Guss GmbH through other channels. In the event of one or more of the subsequent questions being relevant in any way, customer shall be bound to inform Jura-Guss GmbH of the fact before Jura-Guss GmbH enters into any obligation vis-a-vis customer.

In the event of the request for quotation (RFQ) or request for tender (RFT) containing any unspecified requirements regarding

- a) the packaging of the product and its delivery to the customer (blister packaging, use of a specific packaging material, cleanliness requirements, handling of the customer's own transport devices);
- b) the handling of the product at the customer's site (robustness, impact and vibration resistance, drop heights);
- c) the storage of the product at the customer's site (insensitivity towards environmental factors such as light, humidity, temperature, air pressure, and the inherent durability of the product);
- d) production at the customer's site;
- e) the requirements applying to the product as part of the overall system (robustness, impact and vibration resistance)
- f) the influence of the product on its system environment;
- g) the influence of the system environment on the product;
- h) time-dependent factors such as wear and tear or material fatigue in a specific installation position;
- i) the influences of the overall system on the product;
- j) the influences of the product on the overall system;
- k) the influences of the users of the system as a whole (e.g. soiled work clothing, rough handling, substandard user training);
- l) the influences of legal regulations (as far as known to the user);
- m) factors that deviate spatially, technically, or temporally from the conditions that are normally expected or that should be expressly mentioned (e.g. climatic conditions, average duration of use, shaking, rocking or vibrating motions);
- n) factors that result from the intended use of the product under particular regional, climatic, or legal conditions;

- o) factors which, to the extent that they do not belong to the scope of the original order may impact the function, the functionality and/or the service life of the product within the environment of the overall system;
- p) non-conformances on customer's part regarding the commonly assumed quality and/or use of consumables and accessories;
- q) requirements applying to the product to be delivered by Jura-Guss GmbH with regard to its future installation or its future processing;
- r) requirements regarding mechanical, thermal, or electrical robustness, electrostatic compatibility, or handling which may possibly require a modification of the product;
- s) a need for certain interface parameters for purposes of validation, including test procedures, test methods, and test equipment;
- t) awareness on the part of the customer of legal and regulatory requirements, deviating from the requirements that apply normally.

(2) Deviating from Sect. 8.4.2.2 IATF 16949 (in the version of 01-10-2016) and Sect. 8.6.5 IATF 16949, parties hereby agree that there is no obligation on the part of Jura-Guss GmbH to investigate legal and regulatory requirements in the countries of destination named by customer. This obligation shall apply only and exclusively to customer.

§ 4 Quotation, related documentation, order confirmation

- (1) In the absence of divergent specifications, all quotations from Jura-Guss GmbH shall be non-binding.
- (2) Jura-Guss GmbH may accept orders by order confirmation within six weeks.
- (3) For a contract to come into existence, an order confirmation by Jura-Guss GmbH (in text format at least) or a delivery is essential.
- (4) Verbal undertakings relating to specific properties, additions, collateral and other agreements that reach beyond the scope of the written contract or change the content of these General Terms and Conditions of Sale to the detriment of Jura-Guss GmbH shall be effective only if confirmed by Jura-Guss GmbH in a written consent.
- (5) Jura-Guss GmbH hereby reserves property rights in all figures, drawings, calculations, and other documentation. The same applies to any written documentation designated as 'confidential'. Any disclosure to third parties requires the express written consent of Jura-Guss GmbH.
- (6) Figures, drawings, tables, and specifications of weights and dimensions that form part of a quotation shall be mere approximations unless expressly designated as binding. Jura-Guss GmbH will not be liable for any design-related non-conformances arising between the contractual object and the aforementioned documents.
- (7) Dimensional accuracy shall be regulated by related DIN and EN standards. Moreover, any dimensional and weight specifications will be made by Jura-Guss GmbH to the best of its knowledge without, however, implying any guarantee of quality. Minor deviations, particularly any weight excesses or deficiencies ascribable to casting-related causes, will not entitle customer to complaints or deficiency-related claims, unless other agreements have been made.

§ 5 Prices, terms and conditions of payment

- (1) The prices quoted in the contract shall be regarded as baseline prices to which surcharges relating to increases in the cost of materials or energy may be added.
- (2) In the absence of any agreement relating to another INCOTERM clause, all prices shall be quoted EXW INCOTERMS 2020® plus the VAT rate valid at the time of invoicing. Any incidental costs relating to, for example, freight, insurance, importation, transit, exportation, and other permits, certifications, and documentations shall be borne by customer. Similarly, customer shall bear the cost of all kinds of taxes, duties, fees, and customs during transport.
- (3) If after the conclusion of the contract the cost of production should increase by more than 5 % because of, for example, wage increases, energy price increases, customs duties, or other costs, the share of the costs which may have been contained or not contained in the price originally agreed may be changed to reflect the change of cost. However, the foregoing shall not apply if the changes in question occur within six weeks after the conclusion of the contract. The right to modify a price shall fall due when either party submits a related demand in writing. If no agreement relating to the modification of the price can be reached between the parties, Jura-Guss GmbH may terminate the contract in writing in whole or in part within three months. In order to retain the price originally agreed, Jura-Guss GmbH may use alternative sources of supply. If, after a change of supply sources, deliveries to customer may be made only after a sampling process, customer shall bear the cost of said process.
- (4) In the absence of express agreements to the contrary, offers and invoices shall be made out in EURO.

- (5) If not agreed otherwise, the cost of piece-related patterns and manufacturing equipment shall be paid in advance.
- (6) If not agreed otherwise, invoices shall fall due on receipt. Provided that related credit approvals are not withdrawn, invoices shall be payable net within 30 days after the invoice date. In cases where discounts have been contractually agreed, such discounts shall be admissible only if all invoices previously due have been paid.
- (7) Deliveries of instalments will be covered by separate invoices. Each such invoice will be payable on a separate date.
- (8) For all methods of payment, the date of receipt shall be the day on which Jura-Guss GmbH or, alternatively, a third party having a claim on Jura-Guss GmbH will be able to dispose of the amount finally.
- (9) In the event of customer's payment of the purchase price being delayed, any amounts outstanding shall bear interest at a rate of 5 % above the base rate, any claims stipulating a higher interest rate and/or further damage continuing valid.
- (10) As laid down in the contract, customer shall be bound to pay the purchase price and accept delivery of the products. If customer should fail to meet one of his obligations arising from this contract or from applicable law, Jura-Guss GmbH may retain any and all deliveries and services without detriment to any other legal claims it may have.
- (11) If no agreement, regarding a binding order volume exists, Jura-Guss GmbH will base its calculation on the non-binding order volume (target volume) specified by customer.
- (12) In the event of customer accepting only a volume smaller than the target volume, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled to increase the price of each item accordingly.
- (13) In the event of Jura-Guss GmbH delivering products which are indubitably faulty to some extent, customer shall nevertheless be obliged to pay for any faultless products delivered, unless customer is not interested in such partial delivery.
- (14) Jura-Guss GmbH will accept cheques or bills of exchange only in fulfilment, but not instead of fulfilment and only on the basis of a written agreement. The claim of Jura-Guss GmbH will only be fulfilled on the day, on which it will be able to dispose of the value, without having to expect reversal demands. Collection costs, discount and exchange charges, and interests shall always be paid by customer and shall fall due for payment immediately.
- (15) Retaining or offsetting payments shall be admissible only if any counterclaims are undisputed or have been finally validated.

§ 6 Retention of title

- (1) Jura-Guss GmbH will retain ownership of the products delivered until all payments arising from the business relationship with customer have been received.
- (2) Jura-Guss GmbH's assertion of its right of ownership or the seizure of products delivered by it shall not be regarded as equivalent to a rescission of the contract unless this is explicitly stated by Jura-Guss GmbH in writing.
- (3) customer is entitled to sell the products delivered in the ordinary course of his business; however, customer assigns at this time to Jura-Guss GmbH all claims in the amount of the purchase price agreed between Jura-Guss GmbH and customer (inclusive of value-added tax) which may accrue to customer as a result of such sale, independently of whether the products delivered are sold on before or after machining. Once these claims have been ceded, customer may lawfully collect them. If such is the case, however, Jura-Guss GmbH may demand that the claims ceded and the relevant debtor be made known, that all information needed for collection is given, that relevant documents are handed over, and that the debtors (third parties) are informed of the cession.
- (4) Customer will always process or reshape the products on behalf of Jura-Guss GmbH. In the event of the products delivered being processed together with other items that do not belong to Jura-Guss GmbH, Jura-Guss GmbH shall acquire a co-ownership in the new item in an amount corresponding to the relationship between the value of the products delivered and the other items involved in processing at the relevant time.
- (5) In the event of the products delivered being inseparably blended with other items not in the possession of Jura-Guss GmbH, Jura-Guss GmbH shall acquire a share in the ownership of the new item corresponding to the relationship between the value of the products delivered and the other amalgamated items. Customer shall keep Jura-Guss GmbH's share safe on Jura-Guss GmbH's behalf.
- (6) Customer may neither pawn nor collateralise products intended for delivery. In the event of products being seized, collateralised or otherwise disposed of by a third party, customer shall inform Jura-Guss GmbH without delay, providing Jura-Guss GmbH with any and all information and documents required to protect the rights of Jura-Guss GmbH. Enforcement officers and/or third parties shall be informed of Jura-Guss GmbH's property rights.

(7) Jura-Guss GmbH undertakes, at the request of customer, to release the collaterals due to it in the event of the realizable value of said collaterals exceeding that of the relevant claims by more than 10 %. The collaterals to be released shall be chosen by Jura-Guss GmbH.

§ 7 Scope of delivery, time of delivery, delivery quantities, force majeure

(1) In order to conform to agreed delivery and performance deadlines, all technical questions must first have been answered, and payments and other obligations must have been provided and/or fulfilled by customer in good time. If this has not happened, related terms will be prolonged accordingly. Delivery terms may be obstructed by design changes and article modifications requested by customer. They may be restarted only after the changes in question have been approved by customer.

(2) In the absence of agreements to the contrary, conformance to delivery deadlines will essentially depend on Jura-Guss GmbH reporting a consignment being ready for shipment or collection.

(3) Jura-Guss GmbH will supply customer with products as far as its delivery options permit.

(4) Delivery may be made in instalments provided the use of the products is not hampered thereby.

(5) Delivery times will be lengthened whenever the contract is infringed by customer in a manner that hampers deliveries or, alternatively, because of force majeure, strikes, circumstances beyond Jura-Guss GmbH's control, or inclement weather conditions for as long as these conditions persist.

(6) High as well as low delivery volumes within a tolerance of 10 % of the total order volume shall be admissible if production-related. The total price agreed will be changed accordingly.

(7) In cases of force majeure as well as in the event of any occurrence beyond the will of Jura-Guss GmbH and its influence such as, for example, natural disasters, pandemics, mobilisation, war, riots, strikes and lockouts, import and export restrictions imposed by the authorities, unforeseen events occurring during manufacture or delivery at Jura-Guss GmbH or any of its sub-suppliers, the term of delivery shall be considered prolonged in proportion. Jura-Guss GmbH will inform customer as soon as possible about the onset and the end of such conditions.

(8) Any changes desired by customer will lengthen the delivery period until Jura-Guss GmbH has reviewed all technical questions and checked the feasibility of the changes. The delivery period will be lengthened by the time required to implement the new specifications in production. Whenever an active production process is interrupted Jura-Guss GmbH may move on and finish other orders. Jura-Guss GmbH is not obliged to keep production capacities in reserve for the duration of the delay.

(9) If customer should want Jura-Guss GmbH to conduct any tests the timing and scope of such tests must be agreed beforehand. If this is not done before the contract is concluded, any resultant costs shall be at the expense of customer.

(10) If a delivery is to be based on a sample prepared by Jura-Guss GmbH, customer shall inspect and release said sample without delay on Jura-Guss GmbH's premises after its completion has been reported. If for reasons for which customer is responsible no release is granted after a reasonable period of grace has been set, the sample shall be regarded as released, in which case Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled either to ship the sample or to put it into storage at customer's risk and expense.

§ 8 Shipment, passage of risk, packaging

(1) Unless differently provided in the order confirmation, delivery in conformance with EXW INCOTERMS 2020® shall be regarded as agreed.

(2) Compliance with a delivery date or term depends on the time at which Jura-Guss GmbH reports a delivery ready for shipment or collection.

(3) In the absence of any agreement to the contrary, products reported ready for shipment or collection shall be accepted by customer without delay. In the event of customer neglecting this obligation Jura-Guss GmbH may, at its option, either send the products to customer at customer's expense or store them on its own premises or the premises of a third party at customer's expense and risk.

(4) The risk involved will pass to customer in conformance with EXW INCOTERMS 2020®. Should Jura-Guss GmbH employ a machining contractor, and if this machining contractor should deliver the products directly to customer, EXW INCOTERMS 2020® shall apply at the processor's place of business.

(5) The above regulations regarding the passage of risk shall apply even if Jura-Guss GmbH has taken over other services such as, for example, the cost of shipment or of delivery.

(6) In the event of the products not being delivered in conformance with EXW INCOTERMS 2020® the risk will pass at the time when the products are handed over to the first transport person, provided nothing different has been agreed.

(7) Unless expressly agreed otherwise, packaging of products supplied will not be taken back by Jura-Guss GmbH. The customer undertakes to comply with all applicable regulations regarding the take-back and/or proper disposal of the packaging of the products supplied which continues to be used by or remaining with customer.

§ 9 Property rights

(1) Customer hereby undertakes to inform Jura-Guss GmbH without delay of any claims by third parties relating to property rights in the products delivered, and to leave Jura-Guss GmbH to handle the matter of legal defence. Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled to carry out any changes necessitated by property rights claims by third parties at its own expense even where products already delivered and paid for are concerned.

(2) In the event of a third party restraining Jura-Guss GmbH from manufacturing or delivering a product because of property rights belonging to said third party, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled to cease work until the legal situation has been cleared up between the customer and the third party unless Jura-Guss GmbH is responsible for an infringement of said property rights. Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract if because of the delay it should appear unreasonable for Jura-Guss GmbH to continue processing the order.

(3) Customer shall be answerable to Jura-Guss GmbH for any goods or services provided being free from any property rights of third parties. Customer hereby releases Jura-Guss GmbH from any relevant claims by third parties.

§ 10 Liability for delivery delays

(1) In the event of Jura-Guss GmbH failing to deliver the products in conformance with the provisions of the contract, and if the relevant purchase contract concerns a short sell within the meaning of § 286 Abs. 2 No. 4 BGB (German Civil Code) or § 376 HGB (German Commercial Code), and if customer still retains his interest in the continued performance of the contract, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be liable in conformance with applicable legal regulations unless it is not responsible for the contravention of the contract.

(2) In the event of Jura-Guss GmbH failing to meet its obligation to deliver the products as provided in the contract, it shall be held liable in conformance with legal regulations in the event of customer claiming damages on the basis of intent or gross negligence on the part of Jura-Guss GmbH's representatives or agents. To the extent that Jura-Guss GmbH is not charged with intent in conjunction with its liability, said liability shall be limited to the damage that is foreseeable and typical.

(3) In the event of Jura-Guss GmbH failing to meet its obligation to deliver the products as provided in the contract it shall be liable in conformance with the law in case it culpably infringe any important obligation under the contract. If Jura-Guss GmbH is not accused of intentionally breaking the contract, its liability will be restricted to the damage that is foreseeable and typical.

(4) Liability for culpably injuring a person's life, body, or health shall not be affected.

(5) In the absence of any regulations to the contrary in the above, any further liability for delivery delays is hereby excluded.

§ 11 Liability for defects

(1) To the extent that a product has been specified it will be free from material defects if it conforms to recognized manufacture-related tolerances. Customer may only invoke any use intended by him for the product if said use was specifically agreed in writing.

(2) The data and illustrations shown in prospectuses and catalogues are approximations commonly used in the industry unless expressly characterised as binding by Jura-Guss GmbH.

(3) Wherever Jura-Guss GmbH's deliveries are regulated by drawings, specifications, samples etc. provided by customer, customer shall bear the risk of suitability for the use intended. Whether or not the products conform to the conditions of the contract shall be established at the time of risk passage.

(4) Unless otherwise agreed between the parties the products shall be deemed conformable with the contract if they conform to the regulations applying in the country of origin. Normative requirements applying in countries other than that of origin must be expressly agreed in writing.

(5) Jura-Guss GmbH will not provide any warranty for material defects that is due to unsuitable or inexperienced use, faulty installation and/or commissioning by customer or third parties, wear and tear, and faulty or negligent treatment. The same applies to any consequences of changes or repairs chosen by customer that have been executed inexpertly and without Jura-Guss GmbH's consent by customer or third parties. The same holds true for defects that reduce the value or suitability of the products to an inconsiderable extent.

(6) Obvious defects must be reported and a complaint made to Jura-Guss GmbH without delay. A defect, for which Jura-Guss GmbH is responsible, may be repaired or be replaced at Jura-Guss GmbH's choice. In case of a repair, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be obliged to bear any expenses required to remedy the defect, including specifically the cost of transport, carriage, labour, and material, provided that these costs are not increased by the product purchased being moved to a site other than the place of fulfilment. In the event of Jura-Guss GmbH opting for repairs, customer shall make the product available for the purpose at the place of manufacture upon request by Jura-Guss GmbH.

(7) In the event of rectification failing, customer may demand either resignation or reduction.

(8) If customer has installed the defective product in another object or attached it to another object in conformance with its design and intended use, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be obliged as part of the rectification process to compensate customer for the requisite cost of removing the defective object and installing or attaching the repaired or delivered fault-free object. The above shall not apply if Jura-Guss GmbH is in a position to refuse the kind of supplementary performance chosen by customer as per § 439 Abs. 4 BGB. Jura-Guss GmbH may refuse the kind of supplementary performance chosen by customer if the cost of such performance is higher by more than 150 % of the value of the products in perfect condition.

(9) Jura-Guss GmbH will be liable for defects in conformance with legal regulations if it has fraudulently concealed the defect or has guaranteed the condition of the product.

(10) Jura-Guss GmbH will be liable for defects in conformance with legal regulations in the event of customer claiming damages based on intent or gross negligence on the part of Jura-Guss GmbH's representatives or agents. If Jura-Guss GmbH is not charged with a deliberate breach of contract under its liability for defects, said liability will be restricted to the typical extent of the damage.

(11) Jura-Guss GmbH will be liable for defects in conformance with legal regulations if it culpably contravenes one of its material obligations under the contract. If Jura-Guss GmbH is not charged with intentionally infringing the contract its liability will be restricted to the typical extent of the damage.

(12) Liability for culpable injuries to life, body, or health shall not be affected by the above. The same shall apply to liability under the German product liability act.

(13) In the absence of contradictory provisions in the above, liability for defects shall be ruled out.

(14) Claims under § 437 BGB shall become time-barred 12 months after the passage of risk, unless the products concerned have been used as elements of a building in conformance with their typical usage and have caused said building to become defective.

(15) In case of a recovery claim under §§ 478, 479 BGB, the period of limitation shall remain unaffected. It amounts to five years, counting from the date of delivery of the faulty product.

§ 12 Overall liability

(1) Without regard to the legal nature of the claim asserted, particularly where it is based on faults occurring at the conclusion of the contract, the neglect of other duties, or tortious claims to compensation for material damages under § 823 BGB, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be liable as outlined in clauses 11.10, 11.11, and 11.12. Any further liability is hereby excluded.

(2) In so far as Jura-Guss GmbH's liability for damages is excluded under this clause, the same shall apply to the personal liability for damages of Jura-Guss GmbH's employees, representatives, and agents.

(3) Any and all claims not subject to limitation because of a material defect shall become time-barred after 18 months, the term beginning at the time when the damage, and the person inflicting it, should have become known to customer, unless there is gross negligence on customer's part.

§ 13 Patterns, Manufacturing Equipment, Tools

(1) In the event of customer providing Jura-Guss GmbH with patterns, manufacturing equipment, or tools (such as moulds, templates, core boxes, machining tools, etc.) (hereinafter 'equipment'), such articles shall be sent to Jura-Guss GmbH free of cost. Jura-Guss GmbH may instruct customer at any time to retrieve equipment free of cost. If customer does not follow such a demand within three months, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled to send the equipment back to customer at customer's expense. The cost of maintenance and any modifications desired shall be borne by customer.

(2) Customer shall be liable for the design and construction of the equipment being technically correct and/or capable of fulfilling the purpose of production. However, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled to implement any changes demanded by the requirements of foundry technology. In the absence of a special agreement, Jura-Guss GmbH shall not be obliged to check whether or not the equipment provided corresponds to any accompanying drawings or samples.

(3) In case of Jura-Guss GmbH making or buying production-related equipment, customer shall reimburse Jura-Guss GmbH for the cost incurred. Where not the entire cost has been invoiced, customer will pay the remaining expenses if he is not prepared to buy the number of items promised by him at the time when the contract was concluded. Equipment made or procured by Jura-Guss GmbH will remain its property. During the life of the contract, it will be used exclusively for deliveries to customer. In the event of more than three years having passed since the last order, Jura-Guss GmbH will no longer be obliged to keep the equipment.

(4) In the event of customer suspending or terminating concrete collaboration, while the equipment is being made, he will be charged for any production cost incurred until then.

(5) Unless something else has been agreed in writing, the equipment made or bought by Jura-Guss GmbH will be property of Jura-Guss GmbH.

(6) If it has been agreed that customer is to become the owner of equipment made or bought by Jura-Guss GmbH, ownership will pass to customer as soon as the purchase price is paid completely. Instead of the equipment made or bought by Jura-Guss GmbH being actually handed over, customer will cede it to Jura-Guss GmbH for its own use. Customer may terminate this cession no earlier than two years after the passage of ownership, provided that no other agreements have been made.

(7) Costs or cost shares of equipment will be invoiced separately from the value of the products at all times. In the absence of agreements to the contrary, it shall be paid when the first-off-tool sample is submitted or, if such a sample has not been ordered, when the first delivery of products is made.

(8) Jura-Guss GmbH undertakes to keep the equipment safe for customer for a period of three years after the last delivery. In the event of customer informing Jura-Guss GmbH before the end of this period, that orders will be placed within a period of up to another year after that, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be obliged to keep the equipment safe for that extra period. If not, Jura-Guss GmbH will be free to dispose of the equipment.

(9) Any equipment in Jura-Guss GmbH's possession shall be treated by Jura-Guss GmbH with the same diligence commonly applied by it in its own affairs. On demand by customer, Jura-Guss GmbH shall insure the equipment in customer's possession at customer's expense.

(10) In the event of any property rights of third parties being infringed by deliveries made in conformance with drawings or other data provided by customer, customer will release Jura-Guss GmbH from any related claims.

(11) Drawings and documents handed over to customer as well as any proposals regarding advantages in the design and production of castings must not be passed on to any third parties. Their return may be demanded from Jura-Guss GmbH at any time. Licence claims, made by customer on the basis of any industrial property rights, in equipment made or bought at customer's order shall be inadmissible, provided these are used by Jura-Guss GmbH in conformance with the contract.

(12) If customer should demand the surrender of a piece of equipment, he thereby waives delivery of those parts for the manufacture of which Jura-Guss GmbH needs the piece of equipment concerned. Jura-Guss GmbH will accept this waiver.

§ 14 Cast-in parts

(1) Parts intended for casting in shall be delivered free of charge. They shall be dimensionally accurate and ready for being cast in. Any machining cost required shall be paid by customer.

(2) The number of cast-in parts shall exceed the number of castings by a reasonable margin.

§ 15 Counterclaims, assignability

(1) Customer shall only be entitled to set-offs, if his counterclaims have been made in time, are undisputed, or have been recognized by Jura-Guss GmbH. Moreover, customer shall only be entitled to exercise any right of retention, if his counterclaim is based on the same contractual relationship.

(2) Customer is entitled to cede any rights arising from contracts concluded between him and Jura-Guss GmbH only with Jura-Guss GmbH's consent.

§ 16 Jura-Guss GmbH's right of resignation; cancellation of indefinite contracts

- (1) In case of an event occurring, for which Jura-Guss GmbH is not answerable and which modifies the economic significance or the content of the performance to a considerable extent or considerably impacts Jura-Guss GmbH's operations or, alternatively, in case of an impracticality for which Jura-Guss GmbH is not answerable coming to light subsequently, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled to withdraw from the contract in whole or in part, unless a partial withdrawal is unacceptable to customer. Further legal rights of resignation shall not be affected by the foregoing.
- (2) Customer shall have no claim for damages for such a resignation. If Jura-Guss GmbH wishes to exercise its right of rescission it shall inform customer accordingly even in cases where an extension of the term of delivery has previously been agreed with customer.
- (3) Indefinite contracts may be terminated by Jura-Guss GmbH at three months' notice.

§ 17 Data privacy

- (1) Customer undertakes to obtain from any and all persons communicating with Jura-Guss GmbH on customer's behalf, either in his name or by his order, legally effective statements by which said persons agree that Jura-Guss GmbH may gather, store, process, and use the personal data of said persons to process and execute business transactions previously completed as well as current, to prepare new contracts and/or similar business contacts. In this context, the term 'personal data' refers most particularly to contact data, such as names, addresses, job titles, telephone numbers, email addresses, etc. as well as to data relating to special skills, the time and place of meetings, and similar data.
- (2) Customer undertakes to obtain from any and all persons communicating with Jura-Guss GmbH on customer's behalf, either in his name or by his order, legally effective statements, in which said persons expressly agree that Jura-Guss GmbH may pass on these data to third parties for the purpose of processing and handling business transactions both already concluded and relating to current business, for preparing the ground for new contracts, and/or similar business contacts.
- (3) Customer undertakes to obtain from any and all persons communicating with Jura-Guss GmbH on customer's behalf, either in his name or by his order, legally effective statements by which said persons expressly agree that Jura-Guss GmbH shall be obliged to delete their personal data only at their express request.
- (4) Within the meaning of the preceding regulations, the term 'legally effective' implies that customer must investigate on his own initiative the conditions under which a statement becomes legally effective under the general law of obligations.
- (5) In the event of none of the aforementioned statements being available to him, customer shall inform Jura-Guss GmbH expressly of the fact.
- (6) In the event of customer contravening the aforementioned obligation to inform, or if it should emerge at some later date that the statements procured by customer are ineffective in whole or in part, customer hereby indemnifies Jura-Guss GmbH from any claims any third parties may raise against Jura-Guss GmbH in conjunction with said contract infringements. Any claims to damages accruing to Jura-Guss GmbH in this context shall remain unaffected.
- (7) Apart from that, Jura-Guss GmbH will handle all personal data in conformance with the data privacy principles of the EU and the German federal data privacy act.

§ 18 Place of performance, court of jurisdiction, miscellaneous

- (1) In the absence of express agreements to the contrary, the place of performance shall be Jura-Guss GmbH's registered office.
- (2) The court of jurisdiction shall be the court responsible for Jura-Guss GmbH. However, Jura-Guss GmbH shall be entitled to sue customer in any other admissible court.
- (3) In the event of any of the provisions in these conditions being or becoming ineffective in whole or in part the remaining provisions and/or the remaining part of the relevant provision shall not be affected thereby

§ 19 International contract partners

If customer's place of business is situated abroad, the following shall apply in addition to and, where applicable, deviating from the foregoing:

- (1) German law shall apply exclusively. The United Nations Convention for the International Sale of Goods (CISG) shall not apply.

(2) The contract language shall be German. Wherever another language is used by the contract partners German shall take precedence.

Note:

Jura-Guss GmbH will store personal data belonging to customer in conformance with legal regulations. The storage serves the purpose of handling and executing previously completed transactions as well as current business, exploring new contracts, and related business contacts.

Within the framework of the law, customer and his employees may demand information about the personal data stored by Jura-Guss GmbH about him or her.

In the event of customer or any of customer's employees perceiving an infringement of applicable laws in Jura-Guss GmbH's behaviour, this should be discussed directly with Jura-Guss GmbH. Should the complaint be justified Jura-Guss GmbH will abandon the infringement immediately. In such cases, there will be no need of a formal warning or a legal assertion. In the event of customer asserting the infringement through an assertion or court action, Jura-Guss GmbH points out that customer will have to bear the resultant costs himself because there is no risk of repetition.
